BUTTON AND STICKER GUIDE

LIBERTARIAN PARTY
RADICAL CAUCUS
BUTTON AND STICKER GUIDE

July 2023 Edition

ABOUT THE LPRC

The Libertarian Party Radical Caucus was created in 2006 after the Portland Massacre to help keep the Libertarian Party on message and help it nominate sufficiently libertarian candidates. It is the spiritual successor to the 1979-1984 Radical Caucus.

Among its activities are maintaining the LPRC Platform, which has been used both in outreach and as a reference platform throughout the LP, as well as brochures, and endorsing candidates.

ABOUT THIS GUIDE

The buttons and stickers documented in this guide are another activity of the LPRC.

Since 2016, the LP Radical Caucus has had a program to produce message-based event buttons. As of circa July 2016, there are approximately 400 included messages across two templates, various standalones, and six size categories.

This guide is to assist in maximizing the use of these buttons and related materials for keeping the LP on message, reaching out to party members on behalf of the LPRC, and reaching out to the general public on behalf of the Libertarian Party.

Changes since the previous edition (May 2016) include additional button circles and squares, additional messages, a page features guide for 44mm, and an updated tabling guide.

Planned changes for the next edition (Colson Mill) include information about sets, sheet feature information for 25mm and 32mm, an improved definition for the Orlando 2016A template, and obviously additional button messages. If you have any suggestions or requests, please contact James Gholston at (940) 395 4028.

TABLING GUIDE

Once you know you plan to table at an event, look at the web page or flyer to see if they openly give a price for an event table.

These tables are normally provided by the event organizers (perhaps indirectly, such as via the hotel that's hosting a state party convention). Unless it's a very large event, the price should ideally be less than $100, possibly quite a bit less (in circa 2021 dollars). Sometimes tables are available at no cost. Sometimes bandit tables have been resorted to. If so, try to find someplace that's unlikely to get you or the caucus into trouble. Within the party at least, the purpose of such locations has been clear enough that people know to take and wear one.

Optimally you should have the following by the time you're setting up, and you should request help as needed from the events or materials teams: Black tablecloth, banner (LPRC banner for party-facing events; outreach banner for public-facing events), the correct template of buttons (if it's a party-facing event, all buttons except Ask Me a Question and the LGBTQ Flag LPRC buttons should be using the black and gold LPRC template), brochures, issues of Libertarian Vanguard, and possibly even chocolates (Cullene and the Chocolate Caucus may have sent some with your supply of buttons). Other decorations that have been used include standing banners, inflatable letters, flowers, yellow/gold sashes (try to be at least close to Pantone 109C), flowers, and balloons.

For a public-facing event you may want to bring along the World's Smallest Political Quiz.

Also, try to keep the nature and scope of the event in mind when selecting which button messages to include for it. A gun rights rally should only have messages that pertain directly to gun rights, and a knitting and ice cream expo is probably a place to focus on messages that provide a very gentle on-ramp for someone's journey to independent thought that won't traumatize them and send them permanently on the defensive against the Libertarian Party.

If you have brochure holders, be sure to fill those up. If you have more brochure types than holders (or don't have holders), place the additional brochures in tidy piles, segregated by topic.

If you have a copy of Ruwart's Short Answers to the Tough Questions, that's for your reference. If you have outreach template Ask Me a Question buttons, those are ONLY to go to other members of the Libertarian Party. If you have LPRC template Ask Me a Question buttons, those are only to go to members of the LPRC that can be trusted to answer questions on the caucus' behalf.

They should also be tidily arranged in a rectangular or hexagonal pattern unless there is an optional pile. Try to maximize the number of different messages available on the table for visitors to select from. Which message they leave the table wearing will be a statement about what they care about.

Some messages come in groupings and it would be good to keep them together. I Prefer Minarchy/Anarchy, Free Assange/Ross, Deregulate _____, et c. Remember that some are more popular than others and will disappear sooner.

It would be good to have some duplication of the most popular messages. With party-facing events, these typically include: Abolish the TSA, Deregulate Lemonade Stands, End the Fed, Taxation is Theft, the weed leaf and peace image buttons, and I Prefer Anarchy.

Try to have a Radical Libertarian Veteran button out. Not everyone qualifies, but a large percentage of those who do will want it instantly. If the event is public-facing and will have a lot of veterans, there is now a selection of service-specific ones that you can make or request in advance.

The optional pile should look like it's quite a few buttons that you just haven't organized yet. It's been discovered that visitors will preferentially grab buttons from that pile.

Engage with visitors in a friendly manner, and if it's a party-facing event try to recruit some of them to join or donate to the LPRC.

If there are multiple events at the same venue, it's an outreach opportunity! Do not hesitate to engage with people attending for the other event.

As the event progresses, try to fill in the gaps in your arrangement and refresh the optional pile if you have one.

If this is a party-facing event, try to find a local group or candidate who is in need of brochures. The platform-based brochures are designed for public outreach.

Physically attending the table to talk to people, answer questions, and draw people's attention is always a plus, but if this is not possible, most people will generally understand that the buttons and brochures are there to be taken. Do not leave Ask Me a Question buttons unattended.

After the event, what to do with your tablecloth, banner, brochure holders, and remaining materials will vary. If you were sent a tablecloth and brochure for the specific event, you may want or be expected to pass what you have on to someone else who is attending an upcoming event. If you're covering multiple events or are a state coordinator, you may want to find out what you're low on and request more for your most probable next event.

The LP Radical Caucus is very grateful for your help with providing our presence at party events and for helping us to provide a party presence at public-facing events.

Printing Notes

IMPORTANT!

For LPRC Gold and Black buttons, use Neenah Astrobrights Sunburst Yellow paper ONLY. No second source that is the correct color has yet been found.

Each sheet should provide printing instructions.

If it says color on white, try for the most solid and white paper your printer can handle. For example, Hammermill Premium Color 28 lb Copy Paper is a good choice if you have a Brother color toner printer (LED based but may be referred to as laser, which was the earlier technology).

If it says to print black on gold, use Sunburst Yellow paper with any printer capable of printing black. A cheap black-only laser printer will work perfectly.

Remember to set your printer to a minimum of 600DPI if possible. For color, you want the settings most likely to produce accurate colors. You want them to match Pantone 109C, 288C, et c.

Toner print output is more resilient against getting even slightly wet. Inkjet prints can be ruined by a single drop of moisture.

A quick check for how accurate your color is would be to compare the edges on the outreach message buttons to a sheet of Sunburst Yellow paper. They should be close. If the color print is noticeably more green or orange than the yellow paper, then your color accuracy may need attention.

Be sure that prints are at actual, 100% size. Allow anything outside your printer margins to not be printed -- it's probably just blank anyway. One inch in the source file needs to be one inch on the printed page.

Size Categories

While this guide treats buttons as if there were five sizes, it's actually more like a dozen of them. With some effort and planning, however, most of these sizes have been made interchangeable with similar sizes. For simplicity, each category is referred to by its metric member.

25mm
1 inch

This was the second size category to be added, at the request of Nathan Gall.

32mm
1¼ inch

This category was added at the request of Brianna Coyle.

44mm
1¾ inch

This category was added to fill an obvious gap in the size progression. It's a reasonable option for anyone who wants smaller than the 58mm category that's not too small for anything complicated. As the newest addition, it's the least populated.

58mm
2¼ inch
2¾ inch

This is the original category. If you go with our earliest button sheets you will find that many of them ONLY work with 2 3/8 -- not with 58mm or 2 1/4. As of 2020, all of our in use button sheets should be compatible with everything in this category.

75mm
3 inch
2⅞ inch

This is what we have for when we want noticeably bigger than 58mm.

Square

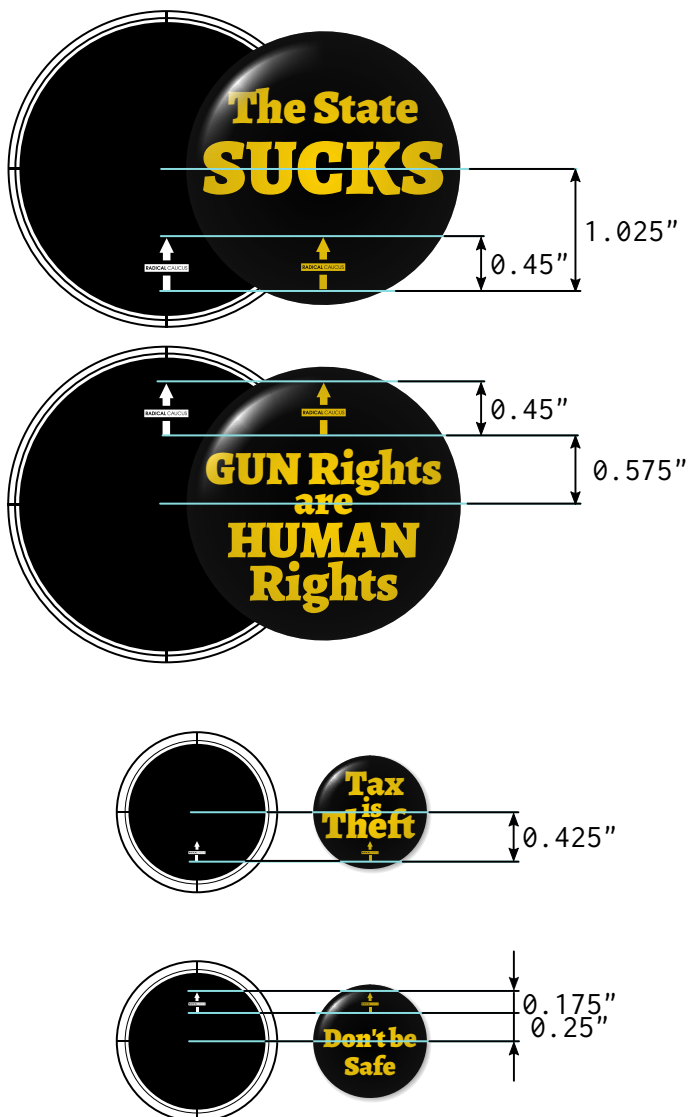

Not actually a size, it is hoped that this will scale with far fewer complications than button circles. It's presently only used with 2 inch stickers, but should scale to things that are other sizes, including textiles.

Orlando 2016A Button Specification

Dated 19 January 2021

All text, with the exceptions of special characters as needed, is to use the Alegraya typeface in black/heavy weight; all text is gold on a black background. For templates for use on Pantone 109C colored gold paper, leave all parts to be gold as white.

The Radical Caucus logo is normally to be shown as indicated but may be omitted entirely for designs that fill the entire button face or render the logo redundant – such as for a button that features a large version of the logo.

2¼ to 2¾ Inch Buttons

Cutlines are indicated at both 2⁵/₈ and 2³/₄; bleed line is at around 2½. Bottom position (preferred): logo base is 1.025 inches below center. Top position (as needed): logo base is 0.575 inches above center. Center horizontally. Logo is 0.45 inches tall

25mm and 1 Inch Buttons

Bottom position (preferred): logo base is 0.425 inches below center.

Top position (as needed): logo base is 0.25 inches above center.

Center horizontally.

Logo is 0.175 inches tall.

DEREGULATE HAIR

Hair braiders should not have to go through government required training, especially as that training has nothing to do with hair braiding. For that matter, why should the government have anything to do with anything else about hair? If there's demand for a certification, we can do that without the government and hair care providers will happily show off their certifications to attract business.

MINIMUM WAGE IS SYSTEMIC RACISM

Minimum wage was designed by actual white supremacists to keep jobs away from people in demographics they didn't like. It's one of the most successful government programs in human history. >8(The market, when allowed to, has far more powerful tools for keeping wages for valuable jobs higher that doesn't shut people out from having jobs at all. Without minimum wage and red tape, SOMEONE can find an entry level job for you, even if your marketable skills are not in high demand or able to bring in much revenue.

UNSCHOOL

Schooling is not learning. You probably want you children to actually learn things, especially for a world that may be unrecognizable in 12 years. Look up unschooling, deschooling, and homeschooling.

WAGE PEACE

War is a terrible and costly thing, causing untold suffering to all involved. Instead of relying on violence as the first resort for solving conflict, we should pursue peaceful solutions through dialogue and diplomacy whenever possible.

WAR IS A RACKET

This phrase was originally coined by Major General Smedley Butler (1881-1940), a two-time recipient of the Medal of Honor who served in multiple wars and became an outspoken critic of war profiteering. His famous phrase "war is a racket" serves as a reminder of the devastating costs (economic, political, moral) associated with armed conflict and encourages individuals to oppose war wherever possible.

WE ARE NOT THE CONSTITUTION PARTY

The US Constitution Party, originally the US Taxpayer's Party, is actually a sectarian Christian religious conservative party. We are very much not them. However, given their increasing obscurity, this button has the risk of being significantly misconstrued and is not recommended for use. After all, if we must have a government, we absolutely want it constrained by a constitution.
